Activity 3
Read the following questions and use them to begin a conversation with your partner.

1. Is suicide a crime in your country?
2. Do you think committing suicide should be a crime?
3. Is living a choice or an obligation?
4. If someone wants to commit suicide but is physically unable to, what can they do?
5. If someone sees a loved-one suffering endlessly, beyond medical hope, what can they do?
6. What are the pros and cons of euthanasia (painlessly killing someone who wants to die but is physically unable to commit suicide)?
7. In hospitals in England terminally ill patients may request not to be resuscitated if their heart stops beating. Medical staff must respect this Do Not Resuscitate (DNR) request and let the patient die. What is your opinion about this? How different is respecting a DNR request from practising euthanasia?
8. Do you believe in euthanasia?
9. If the patient can’t decide for themselves whether to die or not, who should have the right or the responsibility to do it for them: the spouse, the parents, the children, the siblings, the ex-spouse, the boyfriend/girlfriend or life-partner, the doctors, the courts, or the State?
10. Some people draw parallels between putting down sick animals and assisting terminally ill people to die with dignity. Do you think it is right to draw such parallels?
